IFit 4.0

Fit für die Industrie 4.0

In this project, current challenges in the labour markets of the programme region are studied, followed by developing and testing syllabuses in co-operation with labour market policy makers, regional administrators and regional employers. Based on the data collected, a joint strategy will be devised in order to create new, innovative vocational education and training programmes and training capacities in future key areas of the manufacturing industry (industry 4.0, robotics, mechatronics, entrepreneurial thinking).

Fit for 4.0: Training Trainers and Teachers for the 4.0 Paradigm

Industry 4.0, the digital revolution, smart factories, global networks: to meet these challenges, the "Fit for 4.0" project is developing vocational qualifications for trainers. In close co-operation with enterprises a series of training modules is being created and tested.

Among the most important results and products envisaged are the following:

- implementation of the train-the-trainer programme in the areas of mechanics, mechatronics and in the automotive industry;
- enhanced, ongoing co-operation between educational institutions, trainers and enterprises;
- improved qualification of trainers;
- availability of sustainable instruments that can be transferred to other economic sectors or other European countries.

Entwicklung und Durchführung von vorbereitenden und unterstützenden Bildungsangeboten im Rahmen der Berufsreifeprüfung, Lehre mit Matura und Studienberechtigungsprüfung

Young people for whom access to secondary education is difficult for a variety of reasons are offered higher qualification options, even after they have completed compulsory schooling and their school careers. This project specifically addresses young people from educationally disadvantaged groups, with or without an immigrant background; it is aimed at enabling them to acquire the prerequisites for obtaining upper secondary school leaving certificates and university entrance qualifications, by means of a preparatory educational package for qualification in the areas of language skills, mathematics, learning strategies and personal development. In order to assure their success in the subsequent courses, the project also provides free support measures. The objective is to both expand the outreach to the target group and to offer continuous support and assistance to ensure that the participants complete the programme. This helps to increase permeability in the education system and makes it easier to achieve higher qualifications.

NIEBE – Niederschwellige Beschäftigung in den steirischen Regionen

The NIEBE project (low-threshold employment in the Styrian regions) is aimed at supporting long-term unemployed people and recipients of means-tested minimum income with multi-dimensional problems. By creating a graduated system of low-threshold jobs for them, they can, step by step, be reintegrated into the labour market.

Produktionsschule Murtal/Murau

This project addresses young people who need to catch up on basic, social and personal skills. It aims to help them acquire, in an individualised way, the skills they lack so as to make the transition from school to working life easier for them. The project is implemented at two BFI training venues in the province of Styria, Spielberg / Aichfeld (Murtal) and Murau. It consists of three modules: getting started, orientation and training, and specialisation, and rests on four pillars: practical training (with a focus on woodworking at Spielberg / Aichfeld and Murau, and on administration and office work at Spielberg / Aichfeld), coaching, skills workshops (for acquiring basic, IT and life skills), and sport.

Sicher im Alltag, fit für Ausbildung und Beruf

This basic skills training course at Köflach and Rottenmann (in the province of Styria) aims to build on existing competences of persons in need of basic skills training in a way that makes them feel more confident in coping with everyday life and, after the course, seize other educational opportunities (above all courses to catch up on compulsory schooling), or enter the labour market. Following an orientation phase, the participants hone their learning competences, in order to acquire, as autonomously as possible, basic skills in reading, writing, maths and ICT. Practice-oriented consolidation modules, together with intensive educational counselling and career guidance, help the participants choose the training or career path that is right for them.

Standortbestimmung von jungen Flüchtlingen sowie in weiterer Folge Basisqualifizierung dieser Zielgruppe für die Heranführung an eine Lehrausbildung und/oder Erreichung des Pflichtschulabschlusses

This project is geared to young refugees aged between 15 and 25 who are neither in education and training nor in employment. They are to obtain their compulsory school leaving qualification so that after this programme they can start vocational education and training. Being referred to the programme by the Public Employment Service, participants go through a three-month introductory phase. It is then decided whether they are ready to join the 60-week training programme or whether they need to attend a preparatory course first. In the modular training programme the participants cover the examination subjects that are required for completing compulsory schooling and a German language course (levels A2 to B1). They also receive extra tutoring and one-to-one coaching. Besides, a recruiter is involved in the project and organises work placements in enterprises. Altogether four cycles of the training programme are offered.
